Formalités / Santé

Customs formalities :

With a few exceptions, visitors to Israel and the Palestinian Territories need only a passport that's valid for at least six months from the date of entry. Nationals of most Central American and African countries (but not South Africa), India, Singapore and some ex-Soviet republics also require a pre-issued visa (US$17).

If you're not sure, ask to your Foreign Ministry if you need a Visa.

Visas given at the border are valid for 90 days. But (importantly) you will be asked how long you plan to stay in Israel and what you state is generally what you get. So even if you don't plan on staying the full three months, you might as well ask for it anyway.

Health

The medical infrastructure is excellent in Israel. No vaccinations are required, but make sure you are up to date with your vaccinations against hepatitis A and B. If you go into the Negev desert or along the Dead Sea, take all necessary precautions against the risk of dehydration, sunstroke and sunburn. Tap water is perfectly safe and suitable for consumption.

Before departure: Consult your doctor (if your dentist) and do not forget to subscribe to assistance / repatriation insurance. For more information, please visit the following websites:

- Institut Pasteur (plug Israel)
- Institut Pasteur (record Palestinian territories)
- Institut de Veille Sanitaire
- World Health Organization

Security :

Israel is a major tourist destination. Some regions are strongly discouraged for travelers, including border areas with Lebanon, Syria, Egypt and southern country bordering the Gaza Strip. General vigilance is needed in the country, as well as strict monitoring guidelines. Israeli civilian security is available on the website of the Embassy of France in Israel.

Travelers are advised to exercise caution in public areas of major cities and gatherings.

JERUSALEM : The City of Jerusalem is relatively safe and hosts many tourists and pilgrims. To the east, the Old City and the Holy Places (especially Temple Mount or Mount Temple), however, remain an area of regular tensions between Israelis and Palestinians. It is the same neighborhoods of East Jerusalem where Israeli settlers are installed (Sheikh Jarrah, Silwan, Issawiya or French Hill). If tensions, police deployments are quickly becoming important and access to the Old Town can be closed.

It is recommended to stay vigilant. Should avoid crowds and also to observe discretion and prudence in the use of photographic apparatus, especially during Shabbat or travel in areas with strong religious majority.

PILGRIMS : The movement of groups of Christian pilgrims is relatively easier. However access to Bethlehem is slowed by the need to pass a checkpoint. The wait can be long. In the Old City of Jerusalem, we must be attentive to petty crime.

Generally, it is suggested to keep on saying his passport as the input plug on Israeli territory; not to hitchhike and do not take hitchhikers; not to accept packages from strangers, initially as during the stay; Any use of taxis and official tour operators, who know the potential risks in certain areas; not drive around in neighborhoods and cities ultra-Orthodox on Shabbat, to have a list of emergency numbers.

We strongly recommend that you consult the latest information about the country on the website of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs: <http://www.diplomatie.gouv.fr/fr/conseils-aux-voyageurs/conseils-par-pays/israel-territoires-palestiniens-12265/>

Budget

As indicated in the " benefits " you have to pay that is not included in the price. We must plan a budget for your drinks and personal purchases (stamps, cards , souvenirs) . In Israel, the cost of living is high, and corresponds to the one we know in Europe. In Tel Aviv , cafes and restaurants are often even more expensive than Paris .

Food

There are many appetizers and side dishes like pita (flat bread) , mezze , falafel ... and cuisines from around the world. But two kitchens dominate :

- The Jewish cuisine Central Europe , Romanian, Hungarian and Polish with schnitzel , the famous stuffed carp (gefiltefish) and meatballs all the sauces .
- Eastern Jewish cuisine , such as prepared by the Palestinians, based chillies, peppers, salads. Recently, fusion cuisine has developed considerably . Throughout Israel there are restaurants offering blends of flavors east-west , north-south or multi -Mediterranean .
Some specialties :
 - The shakshuka : Sephardic dish . In a terracotta pot , we cooked green and red peppers , fresh onions and garlic golden previously , my mixed with chopped tomatoes and sprinkled with a mixture of spices all.
 - The chamenet zaatar : cream cheese spread on a plate, sprinkled with plenty of zaatar , fragrant mixture of oregano , thyme , toasted sesame seeds , sumac ground ... with a dash of olive oil .
 - The " mixture of Israel " as its name suggests, poultry (chicken breast, heart and liver) and beef (meat and kidney) are mixed . Even cooking the shawarma .
 - The pastries are often very sweet .
 - Kosher kitchen prohibits mixing milk (ie butter) with meat (for the latter, compulsory slaughter ritual) . Israel is innovative both in terms of the imitation of taste than of the variety of substitutes for butter, milk and cheese. Other prohibitions : shellfish, fish without scales ...

Drinks

- Wine: The main vineyards are located south of Haifa (Zichron Ya'akov in particular), and the Golan (planting newer vines) . Golan wines win awards in major international competitions and are now the hottest , also among the most expensive wines. These are the Gamla (red and white) and yarden (red or white, especially red merlot or chardonnay) . We also find in red, ben friend, the Petite Sirah and monfort and white , Cabernet, Misrahi , Semillon or Riesling .
- The local beer is very good too, including Maccabi , a pils to 4.9 ° and the Goldstar .
- The cafe serves the eastern, ordinary (Ragil or bots , which means " mud " coffee ground very fine , but not boiled) or nes (Nescafe) . Widespread too: afoukh coffee, coffee milkshake kind . In cafes run by Jews of European origin, there is also the cappuccino (as in Italy) , espresso katsar (short) kafoul (long) or afoukh (milk)

Music

After the creation of the Jewish state , iconic singers are shown as Shoushana Damari and Yafa Yarkoni , followed later by dudaim . Then came the great Jewish singer Naomi Shemer (who played compositions or poems classics such Bialik , Tchernichovski Rahel or Nathan Alterman) . Yehudit Ravitz but Hava Alberstein and resistant to time and modes , as Shlomo Artzi and Yehoram Gaon who are considered icons.

More sensitivity Eastern artists found Shlomo Bar and Yair Dalal (oud remarkable) and the Israeli Andalusian Orchestra accents a Maghreb nostalgia that interprets the control nuwwabat (plural shindig) Arabo-Andalusian .

Also in the oriental style , on the border of the Greco -Turkish , Yemenite and North African music, illustrate Shimi Tavori Boaz Shaarabi and Zehava Ben .. Finally, include the Bustan Abraham, where Jewish and Arab musicians mingle happiness with their traditions.

The protest singer Aviv Geffen combines poetic message and provocation.
